

M'LAUGHLIN TO QUIT AS DIRECTOR TODAY

Mayor Says Official Told Him He Would Resign to Run Against Moore

WILL NOT DISMISS HIM

Mayor Smith expects to receive the resignation from his cabinet of Director of Supplies MacLaughlin today. The director will resign so that he may devote himself to the campaign of the Charter party to elect him Mayor.

This development is coincident with the announcement that Recorder of Deeds Hazlett and Coroner Knight, Vane leaders renominated on the Republican ticket, have directed that their names be withdrawn from the Charter party ticket.

Mr. MacLaughlin announced in reply to this move that his campaign would be directed toward the mayoralty and the election of councilmen.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Republican city committee will meet to endorse the Republican nominees, headed by Congressman Moore for Mayor.

The city committee in the Second Senatorial district will also nominate Charles S. Hall, chief clerk of the present Select Council, for the vacancy on the councilmanic ticket caused by the death of Councilman Seger.

May Hear Moore
If the official count has been concluded by the time the committee meets, Congressman Moore will be invited to deliver an address to the committee.

Another interesting development of the day was the announcement of Registrar of Wills Sheehan, a Patterson supporter, that he and his friends in the Twelfth ward would turn in solidly for Moore.

Today is the last for filing nominations under new party names. No one in political headquarters expects that either the Vane or Moore leaders will file any such independent nominations, but each side is watching the other closely.

MAGIC POWDER DIDN'T WORK

Man Shakes "Kuffer" Dust in Patrolman's Face, but is Arrested
Failure of a mysterious "kuffer" powder is blamed by Joseph Rodman, a negro, twenty-five years old, 1312 Rodman street, for the fact that he is in jail, according to Patrolman Harrington, who arrested him.

Mr. Maxwell was for twenty-six years employed in the city water department. His health failed two years ago, but since then he has frequently had the idea that he should return to his old position. This, it is believed, caused him to leave his home last Saturday.

Women Politicians Seek Charter
Michael C. Goglia today filed application for a charter for the Women's Republican Club of Pennsylvania, the first of its kind to ask for incorporation.

'MAYOR' PARKER STILL AT IT

Couple of Thousand Votes Shy on Party Pre-emption
John Clinton Parker, candidate for the mayoralty of Philadelphia during the primary election as a member of the Workingmen's party, is making his last stand today to have his party pre-empted for the November elections.

Today Mr. Parker drove his automobile up to the Market street entrance of the City Hall, directly under the window of the office of county commissioners, where the party claim would have to be filed.

The courts have been used to delay the publication of his vote, he explained, while in the commissioners' office. "It has been discovered that petty politicians in certain divisions agreed to transfer my vote to Stackhouse or to lose it. I am going to help free the city of crooks and grafters."

Girl Scouts Plan Parade
Preliminary plans for the Girl Scouts' parade, which is to open the membership campaign the last week in October, were made at a meeting last night in headquarters, Nineteenth and Walnut streets.

John Clinton Parker, defeated candidate for the nomination for Mayor on the Republican ticket, again appeared before the court today. He said that he wanted to apologize if he had said anything offensive to Judge Audenried when he was there a few days ago, but as Judge Audenried was absent he spoke to Judge Ferguson.

MISSING MAN FOUND SAFE

Frank P. Maxwell Discovered Wandering in Germantown
Search for Frank P. Maxwell, sixty-six years old, of 212 Shedaker street, Germantown, ended today. The old man, who disappeared last Saturday, was found wandering about the streets of Germantown. Although he was exposed to the rain in his wanderings yesterday, he seemed to be none the worse for his experiences.

Mr. Maxwell was for twenty-six years employed in the city water department. His health failed two years ago, but since then he has frequently had the idea that he should return to his old position. This, it is believed, caused him to leave his home last Saturday.

VOTE CONTESTS BY VARES AT END

Will Not Present Any More Petitions to Court for Re-count of Ballots

FINISH COUNT TOMORROW

No more petitions to open ballot boxes will be offered by Vane attorneys, according to the belief generally expressed by politicians at today's session of the return court at City Hall.

With Judges Audenried and Ferguson busy this morning superintending the count of ballots from the Forty-sixth ward, and only two more wards to be counted, it is expected that the long task of checking up the primary vote will be completed tomorrow.

The Forty-sixth ward, with its fifty-eight divisions, is the largest in the city, and, from the independents' point of view, the most important. It takes in the big residential district of southwest Philadelphia, which always has been considered an independent stronghold.

Judge Audenried sent out five ballot boxes from the Thirty-second ward this morning to be opened. The recount was ordered on petitions offered by the Vares. The divisions were the sixteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-fifth and twenty-ninth of the Thirty-second ward. All are in the Seventh Senatorial district, and are concerned in the councilmanic fight between James G. Carson, Vane candidate, and Hugh Montgomery, Independent.

Though the boxes were sent out today the petitions had been offered earlier and the boxes were left over from yesterday's batch of divisions ordered recounted. It is believed that these will be the last reopened in the desperate effort the Vares are making to win the seat in the new Council from the Seventh district. The fight on the heads of the ticket already has been abandoned by the organization.

Two additional boxes were ordered opened without petitions having been presented. These were the third division of the Thirty-ninth ward and the twentieth division of the Forty-fifth ward.

Attorneys for the Vane organization gave up hope today of bringing about the nomination of James G. Carson for Council from the Seventh district. After returns from fifteen of twenty disputed boxes had been counted there was little change in the totals, and the indications are that Hugh Montgomery has won the nomination by several hundred votes.

In the count today, Congressman Moore gained five votes. Daniel Wade gained one vote in the fight for nomination for sheriff.

John Clinton Parker, defeated candidate for the nomination for Mayor on the Republican ticket, again appeared before the court today. He said that he wanted to apologize if he had said anything offensive to Judge Audenried when he was there a few days ago, but as Judge Audenried was absent he spoke to Judge Ferguson.

"I thought I was elected," he said, "but now I see it is all one way."

RENEW ARMY FOOD SALE

Bacon and Canned Goods Offered Today at Gimbel's
The first sale of surplus army food-stuffs this week is taking place today in the Gimbel store, Ninth and Chestnut streets.

A feature of the sale is the offering of 3000 pounds of bacon, in chunks weighing several pounds, at twenty-five cents a pound. Other articles to be sold include 3500 cans of roast beef, 10,000 cans of California asparagus, 15,000 cans of pork and beans, 1500 cans of nutmegs, 1000 cans of cloves and 8000 cans of Maine sweet corn.

Local wholesale sugar merchants deny the charge that they are hoarding sugar until after January 1 when the equalization board of the federal food administration ceases work. The charge was made by James R. Walker, secretary of the Retail Confectioners' Association.

Government food and all other supplies now being sold at the Third Regiment Army may be ordered by mail and will be delivered by parcel post prepaid.

OTTO KAHN TO SPEAK AT ORCHESTRA LUNCH

Financier Here Today to Support Million-Dollar Drive of Phila. Organization

Otto Kahn, of New York, addressed the Philadelphia Orchestra luncheon today at the Ritz-Carlton and told the million-dollar campaign committee just what the Orchestra means to New York City.

This was the second luncheon for the official reporting of the chairman of the fifty teams who are conducting the drive for a million-dollar endowment of the Philadelphia Orchestra. The first luncheon, last Friday, reported $109,451, slightly less than the average goal set for each luncheon, but at that time several of the teams did not report.

A lively contest between the Boy Scouts and the Fourth Street Club of 100 business men is taking place. The business men will probably have to exceed the $20,000 amount set if they expect to keep ahead of the boys.

Each Tuesday and Friday luncheon has a speaker to tell of the need for maintaining the orchestra on its present plane of efficiency as a civic asset and the value of its reputation outside the city. In addition to the speaking there is a musical program. Today Hans Kinder played, and others scheduled for the future luncheons are Josef Hoffmann and Miss Margaret Matzenauer.

Dr. Charles D. Hart is general chairman of the subcommittees, which include representatives of virtually every local organization of importance.

POLICEMAN HELD IN THEFT

Alleged Accomplice in Auto Case Also Under $500 Bail
Harry Roesch, a patrolman of the Fifth district station, and William Seini, of Fifty-second and Master streets, were held under $500 bail today by Magistrate Mecreary in the Central police court for a further hearing next Monday on the charge that they stole a $1000 automobile from J. C. Muller, of 3627 Spring Garden street, August 14.

Roesch has been suspended from the police force. According to Detective Neidentahl, who made the arrests, the policeman and Seini left an old car when they took Muller's machine. The detective asserts that they tried to sell the car at Eighth and Walnut streets.

The accused policeman says he bought the automobile for $650. Roesch lives at 5601 Wyalusing street.

GOVERNOR TO BACK ROAD BETTERMENT

Beidleman Tells County Commissioners Sproul is Behind Improvements

SITUATION NOW DEPLORED

Improvement of highways was declared to be the public matter "nearest Governor Sproul's heart" today by Lieutenant Governor Beidleman, addressing the state board of county commissioners in convention at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

The problem of roads is becoming more and more serious, Mr. Beidleman asserted, in view of the rapidly growing number of motor vehicles in this state. He said there is one automobile for every eight persons in Pennsylvania.

In outlining the plans of Governor Sproul for a system of highways traversing the entire state and linking all the populated communities, the lieutenant governor described the three kinds of roads receiving attention. "The first is the primary type," he said, "crossing the entire state and which are to be paid for entirely from state funds."

The next type is the secondary, which are to connect the primary roads and to run through districts where the population is small. This type is to be paid for by the state and the counties.

The territory is the remaining type. These are roads to be built by the townships alone but whose officials will have the advice and guidance of state engineers.

4000 Miles To Be Improved
Mr. Beidleman said the plans call for 4000 miles of improved highways. Of that road mileage, 1400 miles already have been constructed and 750 miles have been contracted for this year.

The high cost of living is hitting road-building also, the lieutenant governor explained. Roads that under ordinary conditions would cost $10,000 to build, now would cost $105,000. But the latter figure, he continued, was an extreme example. He said the state government did not intend to buy it. He called on the county commissioners to educate the public to the fact that money derived from increased taxes and spent on the roads would not be money wasted.

Canals in Bad Shape
Mr. Beidleman deplored the present condition of canals in the state. They could have given valuable service, he said, when the railroads were overtaxed with wartime burdens and could have relieved the freight situation. In the same way good roads, he continued, would afford relief if the railroads again become overburdened.

The lieutenant governor said there were no statistics available which showed the amount of goods formerly carried by the railroads that are now borne by motortrucks.

Another speaker at the session today was Eugene Seligrist, of Lebanon, who spoke on the state dog law.

SUIT CLUB ASSIGNS ASSETS

Bonded Tailoring Company Acts in Favor of Creditors
Fred Brandman and Norman Platosky, co-partners trading as the Bonded Tailoring Company, one of the "suit-club" tailoring establishments being investigated by District Attorney Rotan, today filed in Court of Common Pleas No. 1 an assignment of assets for the benefit of all creditors to Herbert B. Weinberg.

The deed of assignment was recorded in the recorder of deeds' office and a copy filed in Court of Common Pleas No. 1. Samuel W. Salus appears as counsel in the proceeding.

No schedule of assets or liabilities was filed, the paper being merely a formal declaration of the assignment.

Gloucester Teachers Ask More Pay
A petition asking for an increase in pay of $200 a year has been presented to the school board of Gloucester by the Teachers' Association of that city. The petition is being considered by the teachers' committee of the board. A similar request was made last year, but it came too late, the appropriations having already been made.

LEW DOCKSTADER ILL
Famous Minstrel Forced to Undergo Operation—Condition is Critical
Lew Dockstader, the celebrated minstrel, is seriously ill at the Rockville Center Sanitarium on Long Island. He was removed from his home there yesterday for an operation. His condition is critical.

Lew Dockstader for a long time was partner of George Primrose, the late minstrel, but recently has had his own show. He was scheduled to appear at Keith's in this city during the present week.
